

AIKIDO

NELSON

est. 1988

www.aikidonelson.nz

Code of Conduct for Yudansha

Addition to Dojo Values

We do our best to be

Productive

We will use our time during training to learn as much as possible. We work to create an environment of trust and regard mistakes as the foundation for development and learning.

Work as a Team

We will work with our students and other dojo members as a team. Together we can create a sound foundation for our training.

Seek Solutions

We welcome challenges and try to find solutions to problems that work for everyone involved.

Humble

We will avoid arrogant and derogative behavior towards Kohai in any form.

Create an environment of learning

We aim to build an environment of trust that allows us to prevent or solve problems by discussing issues that may occur during training and in the dojo.

Be Responsible

We are aware that Yudansha carry a large responsibility towards Kohai and we hold the imbalance of power that exists in this relationship with utmost care. We will be open and honest about any friendship and romantic relationships with other Aikidoka.

With my signature, I agree to abide to the above values and guidelines and understand the content.

Signature

Date

2011 – 2012 Created in collaboration with

Cornelia Baumgartner, New Zealand
Martin Hartmann, New Zealand
Rosmarie Herzig, Switzerland
Carsten Mielke, Germany
Frauke Rininsland, USA